Symphony in Space

Social Story

Welcome to the Milwaukee Symphony Orchestra, Symphony in Space Concert!

Before the concert begins, I will find my seat with my school in Allen-Bradley Hall!

Assistant Conductor Ryan Tani will be our maestro for today's performance.

I will see Matthew Huebsch on stage acting as the concert host.

The sounds the orchestra makes will sometimes be loud.

Even though the sounds can be loud and can feel scary, none of the noises can hurt me.

Quiet Area
www.kulturecity.org

take a break

If I need to take a break, I can leave and come back at any time.

Conductor Ryan and the orchestra will perform Thus Spoke Zarathustra by Richard Strauss.

(RIH-chard STROWS)

Click here to listen to the piece on Spotify.

Conductor Ryan and the orchestra will perform "Mars" from The Planets by Gustav Holst.

(GOO-stahv HOLST)

Click here to listen to the piece on Spotify.

Conductor Ryan and the orchestra will perform Starburst by Jessie Montgomery.

Click here to listen to the piece on Spotify.

Conductor Ryan will welcome Jane Story to the stage to play a solo on the violin with the orchestra.

Jane was the 2023 Stars of Tomorrow Competition Winner!

Conductor Ryan, Jane Story, and the orchestra will perform Mvt. 3 Allegretto non-troppo – Allegro molto vivace from Concerto in E minor by Felix Mendelssohn.

(FEE-licks MEN-dull-son)

Click here to listen to the piece on Spotify.

Conductor Ryan and the orchestra will perform "Jupiter" from The Planets by Gustav Holst.

(GOO-stahv HOLST)

Click here to listen to the piece on Spotify.

Conductor Ryan and the orchestra will perform the Main Theme from Star Wars by John Williams.

Click here to listen to the piece on Spotify.

When the performance is over, I can use the ASL sign for applause or clap to thank the conductor and the musicians.

I will wait in my seat until it is time for my group to return to school.

When I get home, I can share what I heard and saw at the symphony with my friends and family.

The Milwaukee Symphony Orchestra musicians and staff are so happy you came to the performance today. They look forward to seeing you again!